

America's Grow-a-Row (AGAR) FAQ 2026

What is America's Grow-a-Row? America's Grow-a-Row is a 501(c)3 organization that grows and gleans fresh produce that is then donated to food banks, food pantries, soup kitchens, and crisis centers in NJ, PA, and NYC. Thanks to our partnership with Feeding America, our produce is also distributed from New England to AZ. Since we began in 2002, we have donated over 28 million pounds of produce! We have volunteer events from June through November, when thousands of volunteers help harvest our crops. There are limited spring events.

Is there a fee? We don't require donations but strongly encourage your support. We are a 501(c)3 that does not accept state or federal funding but relies on donations from individuals, corporations, and foundations.

How do you get funding? We receive all funding through private and corporate grants and individual donations. Groups can also make a donation to support their team building day or become a Fields of Service Sponsor and enjoy the benefits, which includes full-year exposure on our website and your company logo on a banner in our headquarters barn/education center. We encourage corporate volunteers to see if their company has a Dollars 4 Doers program or matching grants.

How do we schedule our trip? Fill out the group volunteer form found on our website's volunteer page or contact Kristen Senuto at kristen@americasgrowarow.org for adult groups and Jess Huber jess@americasgrowarow.org for children's groups.

What does a volunteer outing look like? Most events take place weekdays from 9am-12pm and limited Thursday evenings. First, we educate our volunteers about hunger in NJ and the impact they will make that day! Then, it's time to harvest a crop in the fields. No prior experience or tools are necessary.

How many people can I bring? Adult groups can be anywhere from 5-275 people. Children groups can be from 5-40 people. We understand that last-minute conflicts may come up, but please keep us updated about your group size. We use your expected group size to plan what we will harvest during your visit, which in turn impacts our plans for how much we can harvest that week, ensuring that no produce goes to waste.

Where do we go for our event? Most of our events take place at our Clinton, NJ area farms (two farms less than 15 minutes apart in Pittstown and Milford). We will let you know whether you're needed at the Pittstown Farm or Milford Farm a few days before your scheduled volunteer date depending on which crops are ripe at the time. We sometimes have a pressing need to harvest a particular crop and may ask you to change your farm location. We appreciate your flexibility and understanding of the challenges of agriculture.

What produce will we harvest? We may not know what you're harvesting until the day of your event. It depends on the season, weather, crop maturity, and how many volunteer groups come out to harvest. Crops include corn, tomatoes, zucchini, eggplant, peppers, cabbage, potatoes, turnips, beets, squash, and more!

Where does the food go? 100% of the produce is donated; we don't sell anything. We harvest over 4 million pounds of produce each growing season. The produce primarily goes to food banks that serve New Jersey, New York City, Philadelphia, and smaller local food pantries. We also have our own Free

Farm Markets in Newark, Jersey City, East Orange, Camden, Philadelphia, and other nearby cities. Excess produce is distributed around the country as far as Arizona.

What should we bring? Dress for the weather and plan to get dirty. Sturdy closed-toed shoes are required. We also suggest that you bring refillable water bottles, sunscreen, bug spray, hats, and work gloves.

What about the weather? Please dress for the weather. Our events are rain shine, and we will only cancel for thunderstorms or severe weather. We keep a close eye on the forecast and will let you know the day before if we need to cancel the event. We do not book rain dates but can try to reschedule a canceled event.

Will my group be in the field alone? All our events are led by AGAR team members. Depending on the task and group size, your group may be paired with other teams to get the job done. Out of respect for the thousands of individuals that support America's Grow-a-Row, we request that there be no soliciting or proselytizing of volunteers, employees, or supporters at our events or otherwise.

What do you have on site?

- AGAR Pittstown Farm, 150 Pittstown Road, Pittstown, NJ: We have picnic tables for 100 in the barn area. We also have two port-a-johns and a handwashing station. We provide full water coolers.
- AGAR Milford Farm, 401 Woolf Road, Milford, NJ: We partner with a local park that has picnic tables. On site we have picnic tables for up to 100 people, but this space is only available if the park is already booked. We also have port-a-johns, and handwashing stations. We provide full water coolers. There is no physical structure on site.

Can we have food or a meeting on site? Yes, and yes! We recommend that morning groups bring breakfast to give your volunteers the energy needed for the day! See below for local recommendations for breakfast or lunch. Please let us know if you're planning to come early or stay late.
